

1. Customers from North America contribute the highest to total sales.

2. The most expensive product category is Electronics, contributing the most to the revenue.

Price distribution shows that most products are priced under $100, targeting mid-range customers.

4. Transactions peak around holiday seasons, indicating seasonality in sales.

5. The majority of transactions come from repeat customers, showing strong customer loyalty.